

2024 Street Law Professional Development Workshop: The First Amendment and Social Media

Two-Day In-Person Workshop - Jefferson City, Missouri
Wednesday February 28, 9:30-4:30 plus group dinner
Thursday February 29, 8:30-3:00

High school social studies teachers (public, private and parochial) are invited to attend this workshop, focused on the federal court system, foundational constitutional concepts, and engaging current issues!

The First Amendment guarantees Americans freedom of speech. But how exactly does that apply to social media? Explore this important question with legal experts from the federal and state courts, participate in case study activities, and apply what you have learned in a moot court of a case currently before the U.S. Supreme Court, O'Connor-Ratcliff v. Garnier.

Join us for two full days of content and pedagogy professional development:

- Explore current and contested issues;
- Learn from legal experts;
- Receive classroom-ready materials;
- Participate in skill-building strategies like case studies and moot court;
- Special focus on current Supreme Court cases;
- Compliant with Missouri Learning Standards.

To get the benefit of this session, you need to be there for the entire program. If you cannot attend for the entire program, then we look forward to seeing you at next year's event. Space is limited. If you are accepted into the class and find you are unable to make it, please contact us right away to give up your spot.

The program will be held at the Christopher S. Bond U.S. Courthouse in Jefferson City, led by Street Law, featuring leading Missouri legal experts. Meals and materials will be provided, including a group dinner on Wednesday evening. Teachers traveling from outside the Jefferson City area will have lodging provided on February 27 & 28. Teachers who are accepted are eligible to apply for a $100 allowance, to be paid to your school to be used toward substitute teacher pay.

This program is provided free of charge, thanks to generous sponsors. Mileage expenses will not be reimbursed.
